lilting, laughing colors
from Your own shade-garden of mockingbird flowers (those Easy-to-Grow Tuberous Begonias, really) float right indoors to make every room enchanting

all the summer through!

These wonderful Tuberous Begonias love that airy, shady garden-nook, blooming with such profusion that YOU can easily create the Most Beautiful and Distinctive Floral Arrangements in your entire set!!

Even your very best, most intimate friend will be sure you've called in the top-ranking florist in your town, when she sees the utterly lovely effects you can create with these mockingbird flowers!

True, the male blossoms are so large their stems will want to be floated in water, or plunged through foliage so that the blossoms are supported by the rich, green background (unless you prefer to wire them so they'll stand erect) BUT right there, you see you've an opportunity to create any number of "conversation-piece" arrangements! AND the colors are so marvelous, running the gamut from the sharp and brilliant through the soft, delicate pastels to clear, cool whites!

The opportunity for contrast is virtually endless, too . . . the big, boastful male flower with the modest females, the smaller hanging basket and multi-flora types . . . the camellia, the rose, the carnation, the picotee . . . Why with Tuberous Begonias in your garden you can get right in line for top honors in your garden club, and each time you use them to make your rooms, or your table decorations utterly entrancing you'll be in the enviable position of being able to do something absolutely different and unusual!

We just can't help it, and we hope you'll forgive us, but we're so enthused and enthralled by these beautiful flowers (the ease with which you grow them—how long they last arranged in bouquets indoors) we just feel like shouting, and we can't imagine anything more thrilling than having beds and beds in all the gay, exciting colors and amazing varieties of form and shape!

widely known as the “mockingbirds”
because they imitate to perfection
the form and shape of those choice hot-house flowers experts toil over

Yet these

Wonderful Tuberous Begonias

respond to very little attention blooming brilliantly in all those “difficult” shady places in the garden!

*their variety is

PACIFIC HYBRIDS and Imported DUTCH HYBRIDS

Bounteous Blossoms all summer long bring exciting color to your garden

If you don't already know the Tuberous Begonia, you're destined to lose your heart to them on even first acquaintance! They're so lovely, so very beautiful, and they'll dress up your garden to such an extent that it will rank well as an exhibition spot! They love those too-shady-for-most-anything-else places, where the soil stays moist and cool, and fill all such gaps with radiant beauty, blooming profusely from Spring right up to the really killing, sharp frost!

marvelously Easy-to-Grow, too, especially with Our Easy-to-Follow Cultural Instructions!

Our Pacific Hybrids

The most beautiful Tuberous Begonias in the whole, wide world come from our own Pacific coast! And those we have for your selection and delight are from the Brown Bulb Ranch and the Hybridizing Gardens of Vetterle & Reinelt, both located at Capiotla, California, both famous the world over! These Pacific Hybrids, from carefully selected strains, are distinguished for their huge, exhibition-size blooms of faultless color and texture, and their exceedingly strong stems necessary to support these big beauties.

Our Dutch Hybrids

Imported for you directly from C. G. VanTubergen, Ltd. of Holland, these Tuberous Begonias are very beautiful in their own right! The blossoms are exceptionally well formed, moderately large, in a wide range of lovely, clear colors. The attractive foliage is well placed, the stems good and strong. These Dutch Hybrids, highly desirable in every way, are much less expensive than our own Pacific Hybrids, due to lower operational and labor costs abroad. Hence they present the perfect opportunity for the ardent lover of beauty to enjoy these Wonderful Tuberous Begonias at very little expenditure!

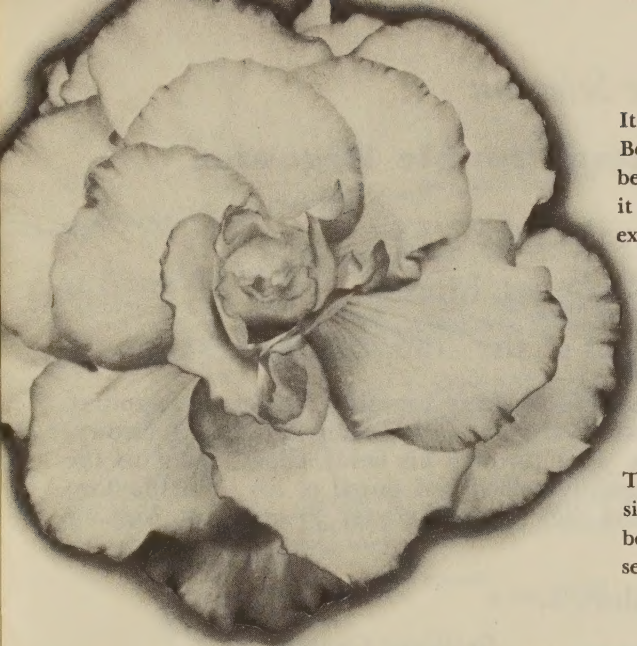

Our Guarantee

gives you the perfect protection you wish, for not only do we guarantee all our bulbs and tubers to be true to name, color and quality, and to reach you in absolutely perfect condition, BUT also we guarantee them through the entire first blooming season! You'll find all the details on our back cover, you know.

the metamorphosis of a small, non-descript wild flower

It is hard indeed to believe that the little, un-prepossessing wild flower, discovered in 1690 in Bolivia by Charles Plumier and named for Governor Michel Begon of Santo Domingo, has been so transformed that today it is huge, many petalled, and so lovely in color and form that it beggars description! All this has been accomplished within the last 30 years or so through expert hybridizing so that there are

Today Hundreds of Spectacular Varieties

the most popular of all

The Double Camellia Mockingbird

Today, this beauty, has been so finely bred that it does not resemble the camellia very closely, since its petals are ruffled and waved! It is used, effectively by florists for corsages, lends itself beautifully to your own table decorations, and dresses up the garden immeasurably! In any setting, it ranks as one of the most beautiful flowers in the whole, wide world!

the imported DUTCH Hybrids direct from C. G. VanTubergen, Ltd. of Haarlem, Holland to us for you! All of strong, hybrid vigor certain to produce beautiful, well-formed blossoms!

the fascinating Double Camellia Picotee

from Vetterle & Reinelt of Capitola, California

Perhaps one of the gayest of those beautiful Camellia-flowered Tuberous Begonias, the Picotee combines liting colors in sharp contrast for each petal flaunts an irregular border in deeper, yet harmonious tone, the effect being nothing short of enchanting! All this was achieved by intercrossing the large Camellia type with the smaller, beautifully variegated Marmarota type. They're so lovely that it's difficult to describe them, hence we can only refer to them as a combination of shades, as follows:

Fanciers, especially, delight in These Brilliant Beauties, thriving in the cool, cool shade

Marmorata, known as LePapillon, or the butterfly, in Europe, this exciting mottled and ruffled Double Tuberous Begonia is the result of a cross between a bright red and a pure white Camellia Hybrid! Arresting and distinctive it is ideal for bedding or for pot plants.

Authoritative Books about these Beautiful Begonias

by Worth Brown
"Tuberous Begonias"

Pleasingly written, and delightfully illustrated with pen and ink sketches, this is true to its dedication, "A Complete Guide for Amateur and Specialist." Since the author's hobby, as well as his business, is gardening, it contains every sort of practical information pertaining to the raising, and the use of Tuberous Begonias, as well as complete descriptions of every type. Chapter Eleven, alone, "Begonias—Month by Month", is invaluable to any and all devotees of the enchanting "mockingbird".

"Tuberous-Rooted Begonias and Their Culture"

Perhaps the best description of this nicely illustrated little book lies in this quotation from the author's preface: "It has been my aim to present in this volume, in every day English, the results of my experience with these wonderful plants so that the 'dirt' gardener and flower lover may be guided in growing these plants, step by step, learning their likes and dislikes, and eventually becoming masters in the art of their cultivation . . . I merely give the results of my experience in their culture which has been most successful extending over a period of more than sixty years."

Hanging-Basket Doubles

the tuberous begonias that bring you the enchantment of great masses of blossoms swaying gently in the summer breeze!

You'll take special delight in these lovely things no matter where you use them. They'll fill that gap in the rock garden with brilliant color . . . they'll stop every passer-by with their beauty in your porch boxes . . . they'll be a constant source of pleasure in a hanging basket in that well-shaded corner of the verandah where the breeze is always gentle! They're marvelously easy to grow, too, and will bloom with great generosity all through summer, right up to killing frost.

NAME-HYBRIDS

AUTUMN GLOW is a huge cristata, its unusual apricot flowers crested with a dark copper. Sometimes these blooms measure a full ten inches across. Its foliage is a rich, deep green, its habit of growth low and compact, making it an exciting addition to the shady garden bed.

FASCINATION is a great favorite—a crispa marginata, gently ruffled. Its pure white petals neatly edged with a precise line of deep pink.

RED TRIUMPH is a huge Camellia type. Its ruffled petals of a soft, velvety texture, its color a wonderful ruby-red, it will hold you spellbound with admiration.

ROSE DAWN is one of the loveliest of the rose-form hybrids, duplicating as it does a beautiful, large full grown rose even to its color—a heavenly rosy pink!

SUNSET, one of the extravagantly frilled crispas, with flowers of an entrancing light copper color excitingly edged with scarlet!

STARS and STRIPES is a marmorata of the Camellia-flowered type, its blossoms of soft red (a warm brick tone) so streaked and speckled with white that it appears to be star-spangled! A most prolific bloomer this one, so making-up for the fact that its flowers are not as large as some others.

SANTA ANNA, a lovely, double-camellia type, which we present for the first time—of exceptionally good form and good habits in a striking orange.

SANTA BARBARA, also offered by us for the first time, is a member of this same select group, each called "Santa". Its flowers are a delightful, light-hearted yellow!

SANTA CLARA, one of this same group, which all have strong stems to support the big, beautiful blooms. It is an arresting apricot color!

SANTA CRUZ, like the rest of the "Santas", its growing habits are exceptionally good, and its color a gorgeous red.

SANTA MARGARITA boasts of large, perfectly formed flowers, too, and presents them in an entrancing shade of pink.

SANTA MARIA is, of course, a pure, clear, sparkling white.

SANTA PAULA, the last of this select group, which we present here, is equally lovely with blossoms of entrancing salmon.

take more kindly to sunshine —

look just like their big brothers,

the double camellia and rose types

A N D bloom in endless profusion ! ! !

In Europe, these are in tremendous demand as pot plants, but here in our glorious country, we like them for bedding plants. They are so delightful when massed! Even though some of the blossoms may lack perfection of form, there are so many of them that their effect is terrific — a vivid splash of color held high above the bushy, compact foliage! Thus they will stand more sun, for this compact habit of growth shields the roots and keeps them cool! Use them for borders with other big mockingbirds, they'll be sensational!

Charming, Dainty-flowered Achimenes— known fondly as Cupid's Bower—Here in the MOST Complete Selection in the U.S.A.

Small wonder that the whimsical and charming Achimenes have acquired such a romantic name as "Cupid's Bower". They blossom with such gay abandon throughout our three loveliest seasons . . . Spring, Summer and Fall. If you don't know them, you'll find getting acquainted a delightful experience for they are so appealing, and so varied! There are types that are happiest in Hanging Baskets and Porch Boxes . . . others that grow low, or tall and bushy when well-potted. And what's more they grow well indoors or out, except in very dry and arid regions, for they like a bit of shade, plus warmth and humidity. They are fast becoming one of America's Most Popular pot plants, and we are no end proud to be able to present such a comprehensive selection for you . . . the majority of the varieties grown for us by C. G. Van Tubergen in Haarlem, Holland, others from leading Achimenes Specialists in this country, as well as from far-away India!

most certainly — Easy-to-Grow

If you're one who knows and admires the lovely Gloxinia, or the African Violet, you'll find that Achimenes respond to the same sort of care. And to make it even easier for you, we send you specific easy-to-follow suggestions and instructions with your every order!

Lilac and Lavender Varieties

CATTLEYA

Soft lilac color flowers with pure white throats are rather large across the face. The plants are of a graceful hanging growth, and if grown in pots cascade so heavily that pedestals are really needed to show them off as they deserve. Very fine.

30c ea., 3 for 80c, 6 for $1.55, 12 for $2.95

LAVENDER QUEEN . . . Regal! Spectacular! Larger flowers than most are much like the Gloxinia in shape, but a deep lavender-blue in color with subtle white shadings. A Scheeria variety entirely different from the usual Achimenes. Rare in this country, this is a must for the Achimenes lover, even tho' its profuse blooming period is shorter. Somewhat hanging in growth.

30c ea., 3 for 80c, 6 for $1.55, 12 for $2.95

Purple Varieties

MAGNIFICENT . . . A truly beautiful, sturdy plant with decorative bronzy foliage and large violet-red blossoms deepening to a rich, deep purple. Regal in every way, and very dependable. About 20 inches high.

25c ea., 3 for 55c, 6 for $1.00, 12 for $1.95

PURPLE KING, also known as Pulcherrima and Royal Purple. Probably the finest all-round Achimenes. The rich, velvety reddish-purple flowers are very large and freely produced. Foliage is an unusual, dark bronze and plant growth very adaptable. Staked, it grows 15 inches tall in pots, while in hanging baskets it is somewhat pendulous and very graceful. This early flowering variety is nearly foolproof as it blooms even under adverse conditions.

30c ea., 3 for 70c, 6 for $1.30, 12 for $2.60

VENUSTA . . . Semi-double blossoms, borne in amazing profusion are a deep, dark, reddish-purple. The leaves are also very dark, being a deep-purple-green . . . the darkest of all the Achimenes and the oldest variety in existence. Venusta was developed in 1848, and is still one of the finest in existence. Occasionally some of the flowers bloom single.

30c ea., 3 for 80c, 6 for $1.50, 12 for $2.95

Pink Varieties

ADELE de La HOUTE — Very unusual . . . hard to find . . . and one of the very prettiest! Delicate shell pink blossoms are larger than the Variegata. And the under side of the dark green leaves is gently tinged with pink! Very compact, this Achimenes grows about 15 inches tall with some hanging branches.

25c ea., 3 for 55c, 6 for $1.00, 12 for $1.95

CARMINE QUEEN . . . is pretty as can be with its quantities of dainty, medium size flowers in a gay, bright carmine-pink. It grows to about 15 inches tall and is very lovely indeed.

30 ea., 3 for 65c, 6 for $1.20, 12 for $2.40

CHARM . . . definitely a beautiful gem! Its rather large flowers are an entrancing, delicate pink, both dainty in texture and bearing! The plant is dwarf and compact, the smallest Achimenes we present, growing to a height of about 10 inches only. Naturally, it requires no staking.

35c ea., 3 for $1.00, 6 for $1.95, 12 for $3.95

LITTLE BEAUTY . . . flaunts a profusion of medium sized, clear cerise pink flowers, lovely indeed against the dark, glossy foliage. It flowers late — even into the fall! Of dwarf upright habit, amazingly, it can be easily trained in hanging baskets. One of the most popular and finest varieties available.

25c ea., 3 for 55c, 6 for $1.00, 12 for $1.95

White Varieties

AMBROSE VERSCHAFFELT . . . No collection is complete without this stunning, unusual variety with its delicate pattern of venation. The ground color of the blossoms is creamy white, almost a pale yellow, overlaid with a netting of violet-purple or lavender, heavy at the center and radiating in fine lines to the very edge of the corolla. Very choice. Large flowered and about 15 inches tall.

20c ea., 3 for 45c, 6 for 80c, 12 for $1.60

JAUREGNIA MAXIMA . . . Very large, flat flowers are snowy white with light markings of purple and purple eyes. A fine lavender line through the center of each petal adds to its distinctiveness. Of graceful, hanging habit this variety is rather rare, unusual and very fine.

35c ea., 3 for 85c, 6 for $1.60, 12 for $3.15

MARGARITA . . . a sparkling beauty with exquisite, pure white flowers borne on graceful hanging branches. The only pure white we have for you!

25c ea., 3 for 55c, 6 for 95c, 12 for $1.90

more and still more of those delightfully pretty Achimenes blossoming with gay abandon—indoors or out—when well-potted!

Blue and Violet Varieties

Red and Orange-Red Varieties

HARRY WILLIAMS. An unusual type having tall, upright stems which are often 18 inches high. Rich brown leaves are handsomely marked and veined . . . flowers, large and semi-tubular, are reddish color with orange-yellow throats, heavily spotted with brick red. A very choice variety!

35c each 3 for 90c 6 for $1.70 12 for $3.40

LOVELINESS. . . . true to its name, this Achimenes is very striking and beautiful! It flaunts an astounding abundance of exquisite violet-red flowers even into fall. Of dwarf habit (usually about 12 inches tall) it can be easily trained in hanging baskets.

20c each 3 for 40c 6 for 70c 12 for $1.40

MASTER INGRAM. . . . one of the finest of the true red varieties, a very rare color in Achimenes! The long, tubular flowers in an entrancing velvety, fire-red with an orange-yellow throat, have some sturdy, upright stems, and some hanging-branches. A very gorgeous plant about 15 inches high.

20c each 3 for 45c 6 for 80c 12 for $1.60

MILTON. . . . a lovely creation with attractive foliage and good habits! Its large, tubular flowers are a clear, bright red. Quite tall, it grows to about 20 inches high.

30c each 3 for 65c 6 for $1.20 12 for $2.40

PENDUCULATA. . . . a tall growing, late flowering species with vivid orange-red flowers which have yellow-red speckled throats. The whole effect is more like a Naegelia, than an Achimenes. Extremely bold and handsome! About 30 inches high.

35c each 3 for 85c 6 for $1.60 12 for $3.15

PULCHELLA or Coccinea, has miniature-size, brilliant orange-scarlet flowers which always seem to be smiling. Very free flowering in late summer and fall. About 17 inches high.

20c each 3 for 45c 6 for 80c 12 for $1.60

VIVID. . . . Glowing, deep violet-toned, crimson-red flowers distinguish this superb new variety. Beautiful for baskets, it is at its best when allowed to cascade over the pot, or through the meshes of a wire basket. Mid to late season flowering.

25c each 3 for 65c 6 for $1.10 12 for $2.20

LONGIFLORA MADUNA. . . . Soft violet flowers with white throats and beautiful, dark veined leaves make this a truly handsome specimen. Late flowering . . . well into fall. Exceptionally strong growth. About 22 inches tall.

20c each 3 for 45c 6 for 80c 12 for $1.60

LONGIFLORA MAJOR. An exceptionally choice variety . . . one of the largest flowered with flat, wide-spread blossoms up to 3½ inches across in a brilliant, dark blue. About 20 inches tall.

30c each 3 for 65c 6 for $1.20 12 for $2.40

MEXICANA. . . . an old favorite with its rich, dark blue flowers, this Achimenes is just about the most vigorous in growth, and the most floriferous of all! One of the first to flower, it can be depended on to continue abundantly throughout the entire season and well into fall. We recommend this, particularly, for beginners because it is so easy to grow and so rewarding.

35c each 3 for 90c 6 for $1.70 12 for $3.40

PERIWINKLE BLUE. . . . a delightful variety that is really "true-blue" in a host of near-blues. Large, flat flowers are very freely produced, considering their size. This variety makes a gorgeous specimen with its hanging tendencies. If grown in pots it cascades so heavily over the sides that pedestals are needed to display the Periwinkle Blue to its best advantage.

Exotic members of the Amaryllis "Tribe"

(Amaryllidaceae, horticulturally speaking)

come from far-away places to dwell contentedly with you!

Interesting! Strange! Exciting! These amaryllids look delicate and fragile, yet they're amazingly easy-to-grow, and they'll happily live indoors with you apartment-dwellers up north . . . or take joyously to ornamenting the garden in the deep south. Which really means that they dote on warmth, rewarding you well for just a little care and attention, adding to your reputation for acquiring the unusual and distinctive, the while. So again, we feel not a little pride in presenting such an array of these Amaryllids for your selection and delight!

rare! beautiful! fragrant!

Crinum

Here's a pot plant that will fill your rooms with delicious fragrance and spectacular beauty! Noted for its lush foliage and the abundance of its large, lily-like flowers (Crinum is the Greek name for lily, you remember) you'll find it an accent of real distinction anywhere!

Many of the hybrids we present are exceptionally hardy and will do well outdoors as far north as New York City, or Southern Ohio if planted deep, or left in pots and sunk well into the ground. The exquisite flowers are snow white, or pink, the latter in a wide range of enticing shades, and there are 6 to 12 of these beautiful blooms to the umbel! Stout, 2-foot tall stems support them gracefully. They respond to the same culture as the Amaryllis, increase freely by bulb-lets, grow easily, establishing themselves quickly, and are very free flowering!

Choose from these NAME HYBRIDS . . .

CECIL HOUDYSHEL is one of the very best and an almost perpetual bloomer, showing beautiful, deep rose-pink blossoms which open in pairs, and exude a heady perfume. Of strong, robust habit, well established bulbs frequently produce 7 or more flower scapes in a year. Hardy outdoors as far north as southern Ohio, Missouri and Kansas if planted deep.

MOOREI is a striking, showy variety with long-lasting Cameo-pink blossoms and long, thin, very wavy leaves. It enjoys shade and bears seed if hand-pollinated or crossed with other species. Is reputedly hardy in the latitude of New York City, but care must be taken as the bulbs grow so near the surface that frost is prone to damage them.

Sprekelia

Brilliant, large, showy, deep scarlet flowers borne on hollow scapes towering two feet high distinguish this orchid-like Amaryllid. Definitely an unusual, but excellent pot-plant as it relishes the warmth. The Sprekelia also becomes important to arresting landscaping effects in the deep South, where it flourishes outdoors.

It requires the same culture as any Amaryllis, and as is our custom, easy-to-follow cultural instructions and suggestions accompany your shipment!

Eucharis

Eucharis is the Greek word for very graceful, and in addition to meriting such a title, this Amaryllid is of great beauty and delightful fragrance.

AMAZONICA, or grandiflora, comes from Brazil and is more often than not referred to as the "Amazon Lily", while some call it "The Star of Bethlehem." Its white, star-like flowers, very much like huge, white daffodils of rich, waxy texture, measure 4-inches across, and are borne on long, stout stems from 1 to 2½ feet high. Its broad leaf blades, a foot or more long, are ever green. It flowers so profusely that it can well be used for charming bouquets. Ideal for pot culture in the north, or gardens in warmer climes, it can be brought into bloom several times a year by following our special cultural instructions.

Ismenes

or Hymenocallis. This is the fragrant "Sea Daffodil", or "Spider Lily" from Peru. Its large, lily-like flowers have petals that are notched and fringed, definitely most unusual, entrancing and unlike anything else! Ismenes are always a center of delighted interest, whether used as a focal point in southern gardens, or as house plants in northern climates.

The large, healthy bulbs, which we at the Barnes supply, may be forced into bloom with excellent results in May, when potted early. In the south, they should be planted in late Spring in rich, sandy soil in a warm, sunny place.

AMANCAES is very rare . . . the only species with beautiful, deep yellow flowers.

Chlidanthus

Or Hidalgoa, is the Amaryllid that is somewhat allied to the Dahlia or Coreopsis. It comes from Central America and will prove considerable of an ornament to southern gardens, where it should occupy a permanent location. North of Washington, D. C., however, it will make a wonderful indoor plant . . . a veritable boon to apartment dwellers!

After flowering, care should be taken to have the bulbs make their annual growth. And to make this care the easier for you we send you complete cultural instructions, just as we do with all our other bulbs.

FRAGRANS, a Chlidanthus Hybrid, is an infrequently grown amaryllid of uncommon charm, frequently called the "Yellow Amaryllis" and "Fragrant Lily." The erect, golden yellow trumpet-shaped flowers (about 4 inches long) are borne in horizontal umbels at the very top of ten inch stems. There are 3 to 4 flowers on a stem and their fragrance is both spicy and entrancing!

The graceful, fragrant Eucharis

the fascinating Gesneriaceae . . .

It's a large family . . . the Gesneriaceae—and the members of it make most intriguing, colorful pot plants, much sought after by plant lovers and collectors. In fact there are several correspondence clubs which devote themselves to a study of the Gesneriaceae, exchanging first-hand knowledge of them. The family consists of several species of tuberous-rooted plants which have soft, heart-shaped leaves and a profusion of brilliant, tubular flowers borne in clusters. We used a photo from Van Tubergen, celebrated Dutch Horticulturist, on the title page (11) of this section, which shows the grace of the Gesnerias Cardinalis, even before full maturity!

We are proud to present for your choosing 3 groups of this famous family . . . Gesnerias, Naegelias and Tydaes, as is our custom, we gladly send you easy-to-follow cultural instructions and suggestions with your every order!

Gesnerias — named for the celebrated naturalist, Conrad Gesner

Achimenes Tubiflora from Argentina!

This rare Achimenes from Argentina is of an entirely different type! It is a fine bulbous plant, seldom offered in catalogs, and so difficult to obtain that we suggest you order as promptly as possible. The bulbs, somewhat larger than a walnut, produce a sturdy plant three feet tall which flaunts lovely, waxy, snow white flowers, tubular in shape, with a delicate, pleasing fragrance!

PRUNING SHEARS

These Draw Cut Pruning Shears are prime favorites, made of tempered tool steel by Wiss, whose craftsmanship is unquestioned. The palm of the hand cannot be pinched with the open end, and it is almost impossible to spring the blades under normal use! These shears fit the hand and have the most powerful, clean-cutting, shearing action of any shears of the same size. They're easy to sharpen, too, and we recommend them without reservation for long service. Replacement parts are readily available. Overall length, 8 inches.

Special Soil Conditioner and Organic Plant Food

ideal for Tuberous Begonias . . .

and all other outdoor plants

This is ideal for potting soil mixtures and general garden use, and especially important for the development of strong, vigorous plants, healthy foliage and Large, Clear-Colored Exhibition Blooms! Farmanure is a special blend of rich pulverized manure, granulated peat moss and other organic ingredients necessary for the building of rich, humus soil abounding with teeming bacterial activity.

100% Organic, it may be used generously with no danger of plant injury. Mix it thoroughly with the soil during the regular Spring preparation of beds for planting. Full instructions included with each bag. The 7½ lb. bag is ample for the average Begonia or Caladium bed.

Order Immediately

If we could just get quantities and quantities of all the beautiful, rare and unusual flowering bulbs we tell you of, we wouldn't urge you to hurry your orders. But many are in limited supply, and really and truly we don't want you to be disappointed, any more than you want to. So do order right away, then we can ship you the wonderful things you want, each and every one carefully packaged to assure their safe arrival at your door.

It Saves You Money

the way we handle postage. We mean Actually!

You see if we included postage costs in our prices, as other firms do, it would perforce, need to be figured on an average, or overall basis. Our gardener-friends nearby would then pay just as much as those far away, hence individual postage charges save you money. We are thus able to keep our prices down to a minimum, making it possible for everybody to enjoy the incomparable thrill of watching living, breathing bulbs, and the like, develop into beautiful maturity!

We prepay the postage to insure prompt delivery to you, then send you a nice, little envelope with our notice of shipment so that you can return the actual postage to us conveniently!

breath-taking — true to life KODACHROME Flower Slides

Next to standing "knee deep" in flowers in full bloom is seeing true-to-life, full-color Kodachrome slides of them! And our very good friend, Philip O. Corliss, who will soon have the world's largest collection of such floral pictures, has available many sets of these slides which may be purchased, or rented. A goodly number of these depict the true beauty of the bulbs we offer, when in bloom!

ALL SLIDES are 35 mm. in standard 2x2 inch cardboard mounts

SHIPPING NEWS . . .

Please send payment in full with your order, by check, or money order. No C.O.D.'s please. They greatly delay the expediting of orders. The smallest order we usually handle is $2.00; should you wish to order less than that, we'll gladly take care of it, but it will be necessary to include an additional 35c to help cover clerical costs and packaging.

Easy-to-follow Cultural Instructions and Suggestions are carefully prepared for you, and included with your every order. You see, just like you, every last one of us here at THE BARNES has a "yen" for gardening (even if it's on a tiny, one-or-two-plants scale), so it gives us special pleasure to do these things for you. And when we tell you things are easy-to-grow it's true. We've tried. We know!

This Catalog of the Rare and Beautiful is the second in 1952. It was preceded by our Amaryllis Catalog, mailed to you last month (and you should have received the Rex Begonia Catalog around Christmas-time). As you read this one, we'll be assembling the next one—Our Spring Catalog. Then there'll be the great, big Fall Catalog, which we know only too well will take more than "a jiffy" to do . . . and perhaps somewhere in the schedule, there'll be a surprise publication or so. You'll want to be sure you get them all, we feel sure, so let us know if there is any change in your address, and if possible, do tell us about any of our mutual gardening-friends who have moved, and where. Thanks.

If sold out of any items on your order may we:

- ☐ Substitute a similar variety of equal or greater value?
- ☐ Hold on back-file for next season?
- ☐ Send a Statement of Credit?
- ☐ Send a refund?

If you haven't room for all the wonderful bulbs you want, please attach an additional sheet of paper with complete details on it. BUT turn this page over first, this order blank is continued on the other side.

Our Guarantee — the Most Comprehensive in the field — gives You the Complete Protection You want

We take considerable pride in guaranteeing ALL of our tubers, tubercles, and the like, throughout their first blooming season after they are in your possession! This is actually the only unqualified guarantee of its kind in the horticultural field.

You see we go to great lengths to make certain that ALL these tubers, and the like, which we handle, whether imported or domestic, are plump and healthy, sure to run true to their descriptions in every way! They come to us from the four corners of the earth via growers of impeccable standards and principles, who rank as the best of the horticulturists! Should you, then, by any chance, feel that those you receive are not true to description in any way . . . if they do not develop and bloom as you feel they should . . . if their colors are not true to what you expected from our listings . . . just write us fully about them. We will immediately refund the purchase price, if you like . . . or we will send you replacements at no charge the following season! Do not bother to send the bulbs back for we have the utmost faith in you, our fellow-gardeners, whether indoors or out.

Naturally, it goes almost without saying, that our methods of packing are of the finest, especially planned to insure the arrival of our bulbs, and the like, at your very doorstep in a perfect, healthy condition. It is my pleasure to personally supervise and check these packings, so that we may continue to extend to you our completely protective guarantee!
